Conductor Selection & Protection under the 2017 NEC®

This in-depth code based six-hour instruction focuses on the 2017 NEC® requirements surrounding conductor selection and subsequent conductor protection. Conductor selection includes determination of conductor material, insulation type, and size, based upon the actual conditions of use; all of which impact conductor protection. Multiple factors impacting a conductor's true ampacity, and subsequent protection, will be explored in-depth. The PowerPoint guided Instruction is focused on in-depth exploration of the relevant Code Sections which result in compliant installations. Attendees will benefit by bringing and utilizing their personal NEC® codebooks as training day coursework material. This training is well suited for electrical contractors, craftsmen, design professionals, enforcement, plan reviewers, and anyone in need of expanding their understanding and comprehension of compliant conductor selection and conductor protection based on the 2017 NEC®.
